Report

It was a wet and miserable day until we saw Booey standing in the rain, drenched, waiting for the banter bus. We finally found the Wendons pitch, some posts in a field next to an old runway, to set the scene. The players ploughed across a boggy field to the changing rooms, whilst the spectators were left by the bus and in the pouring rain.

The Renegades came out ready to warm up and ready to play whilst the Wendons team were still turning up.

We finally got under way. Reggie and his mate, which is his younger brother, finally turning up after doing a bit of last minute Christmas shopping in Saffron Walden.

We were very lively and alert from the whistle, scrapping for the loose balls due to the minging weather. Baz received the ball from Jack and made an outrageous under the legs pass out to the backs, Alex got ball and was very capable of running around the less capable Wendons backs and scoring our first try.

Stella and Heineken took over, the rest got very messy with Ren's gloves used as a firestarter and Josh's socks to fuel it. The highlight must be when Ben thought he had left his big brothers coat at the pub and realising he was a dead man, but really it was on the coach all along.
